Fantastic plot on an elevated position of Sierra Blanca with views towards the mountain La Concha and the Mediterranean coast. The Sierra Blanca address is one of the very best to have, and though there are still individual plots left within the urbanisation it is a largely consolidated area with limited scope for lateral expansion. This means, in effect, that Sierra Blanca is an established area where good demand combined with limited supply produces a much lower degree of price elasticity than may be seen in many other areas. It also means that property in this sought-after area forms a pretty solid investment within the premium and ultra-premium market segment.

Marbella's beaches, town centre and also Puerto Banús are all within a 10-minute radius, yet from here you have the sense that you are looking down on to the town and its surroundings, spotting beaches, golf courses and the curve of the coast all the way to its famous conclusion at Gibraltar. These magnificent views are an important feature of life in Sierra Blanca, and indeed of its appeal among A-list property buyers.

There is a project for a 7 bedroom contemporary villa available in our office.
